

Announcement of Udall Center Fellows Program Competition

To::
UA Faculty
Names and titles:

Udall Center for Studies in Public Policy

Date::
March 10, 2017

The Udall Center Fellows Program is in its 27th year! It is a genuinely unique enterprise on this campus and has served as a model for similar programs elsewhere. If you're a tenure-track or continuing-track faculty member, here's why you should consider applying for 2017-18.

The Fellows Program has hosted 140 University of Arizona faculty fellows. These scholars have represented 42 departments and centers in 10 colleges (see list below, "Udall Center Fellows, 1991-2017").

From the start, the purpose of the program has been to encourage high-quality scholarly work on aspects of public policy. The number of disciplines represented reveals the breadth of public-policy work on campus. From sociology to hydrology, law to public health, psychology to mathematics, geography to ecology, faculty from all these fields – and more – have participated.

The program offers a semester off from normal teaching, thus allowing for creative scholarship and pursuit of funds.

To hear from former Fellows about their experiences, see <http://udallcenter.arizona.edu/news/articles/udall-center-fellows-programwhy-you-should-apply> [1].

To apply, you can access the application process at <http://udallcenter.arizona.edu/news/articles/udall-center-fellows-programwhy-you-should-apply/udall-center-fellows-program-application-forms> [2].

Source URL:<https://uaatwork.arizona.edu/uannounce/announcement-udall-center-fellows-program-competition>

Links

[1] <http://udallcenter.arizona.edu/news/articles/udall-center-fellows-programwhy-you-should-apply> [2] <http://udallcenter.arizona.edu/news/articles/udall-center-fellows-programwhy-you-should-apply/udall-center-fellows-program-application-forms>