Call for CSW Mini-Grants Now Open

Date:
March 22, 2016

The UA Commission on the Status of Women (CSW) is now accepting application proposals for its annual mini-grant award program. CSW offers competitive funding for faculty, staff and student projects that promote equity and inclusion through its mini-grants program. Successful proposals will meet the following criteria: Identify and provide leadership on issues that affect women; develop and support University policies and practices that promote equity, diversity and inclusivity of all gender identities; increase advancement opportunities for women and underrepresented minorities; collaborate with other groups to create safe and inclusive communities; foster individual and collective accountability promoting justice, equity and diversity; and educate the campus community about the commission’s work and objectives.

The maximum award amount per project is $1,500; requests average $400-600 per project. Partial funding may be granted.

Timeline

Proposals are open now and applications are due on Wednesday, April 6.

Learn more about CSW mini-grants here [1] and Apply online here [2].

If you have any questions, please contact the CSW Programs & Communications Workgroup Chair at samanthab@tla.arizona.edu [3].

Source URL: https://uaatwork.arizona.edu/uannounce/call-csw-mini-grants-now-open

Links:
[2] http://csw.arizona.edu/content/mini-grants-application-form
[3] mailto:samanthab@tla.arizona.edu