

Study Invitation to Family Caregivers for Alzheimer's and Dementia

Date::

November 4, 2019

Are you caring for a loved one with Alzheimer's disease or dementia?

Do you want to be part of a research project that may help to improve well-being of caregivers?

The Grief, Loss and Social Stress Laboratory at the University of Arizona is conducting an online study to investigate the links between emotional strain and a range of psychosocial factors that may affect the way caregivers experience stress.

Participants will be asked to respond to an online questionnaire (approximately 30 min.).

Eligible participants:

- Are a primary caregiver for a family member with Alzheimer's disease or dementia.
- Have been a caregiver for 3 months or longer.
- Are able to read and answer questionnaires in English.

If you are interested in participating in the study, please go to https://uarizona.co1.qualtrics.com/jfe/form/SV_2rX5w8Mhkm6swNT ^[1].

If you have any questions, please contact Jiah Yoo (jiahyoo@email.arizona.edu ^[2]) or call (520) 276-8724 or 1-877-518-4630.

An institutional review board responsible for human subjects research at the University of Arizona reviewed this research project and found it to be acceptable.
