Three Design-Thinking Challenges This Spring

Date:
January 14, 2019

Student Engagement & Career Development presents three design-thinking challenges this spring!

We’re looking for students who want to make an impact in the Tucson community and build in-demand skills.

Students can join or create their own diverse team and work together to complete a series of solutions to address the challenges posed by three Tucson nonprofits: The Arts Foundation for Tucson and Southern Arizona, Living Streets Alliance, and Youth on Their Own.

Teams will have the opportunity to work on a real-world project, potentially broadening the impact of one of these organizations can have in the community while seeing their ideas brought to life.

The top teams will earn prizes! Open to any degree-seeking undergraduate or graduate student in any major. There is no cost to participate, and all levels of ability, from beginner to advanced, are encouraged to participate.
