The University of Arizona’s BIO5, Udall Center for Studies in Public Policy, & Native Nations Institute present

International Exchange Series to Advance Indigenous Data Sovereignty

Dr. Stephanie Russo Carroll
Ahtna/Native Village of Kluti-Kahh
Assistant Professor, Public Health and AIS Graduate Program
Associate Director, Native Nations Institute
Director, Collaboratory for Indigenous Data Governance

Topics for Exchange #4 of 4:
- Historical context for the Indigenous Data Sovereignty movement
- Development of the CARE Principles for Indigenous Data Governance
- Issues and opportunities in implementing Indigenous Data Sovereignty in the US

Keating Building, Room 103. 1657 E. Helen St. Tucson, AZ

Co-Sponsors: American Indian Studies (AIS), AIS Graduate Interdisciplinary Program, Collaboratory for Indigenous Data Governance; Department of Community, Environment and Policy: Indigenous Peoples’ Law & Policy Program; Mei and Enid Zuckerman College of Public Health; Provost’s Investment Fund; Western Region Public Health Training Center; University of Arizona Libraries