If you’re a researcher, you’re an inventor.

Through your research you develop knowledge that can change the world.

Did you know you can increase the impact of your work through inventorship?

By reporting the inventions that stem from your work*, you have the opportunity to:

- Increase funding for your lab, department and college
- Qualify for industry and federal grants, such as SBIR funds
- Make your research more attractive for future funding

*Most research contracts contain language regarding reporting inventions. TLA can help you understand your requirements.

Tech Launch Arizona – the UA office dedicated to commercializing inventions stemming from research – provides fully-paid services to help you define, report and protect your inventions, be they compounds, devices, algorithms, and everything in between.

- Discussions are completely confidential.
- Your ideas are protected.
- We help you fulfill all your reporting requirements.
- You get recognition and create impact.

Contact Tech Launch Arizona for a consultation or to discuss the potential for your invention.
